AIAA Publication Charges for Open Access and Color Figures

Publication charges are voluntary, and nonpayment has no influence on the review process or the time from acceptance to publication. Publication charge payments help defray production costs and keep journal subscription prices low.

The article processing fee for Open Access is $2000 regardless of article type. Payment will guarantee that the article is Open Access immediately upon publication in AIAA’s electronic library, Aerospace Research Central (ARC). Payment for Open Access also includes the cost of color reproduction if the author supplies color figures for an article submitted to one of AIAA’s print publications. Authors also may choose to pay $1500 for Open Access 12 months after publication in ARC.

The following journals are offered in print. Authors may choose to pay for color reproduction of their figures in these print journals, even if they do not pay for Open Access.

- Journal of Aircraft
- Journal of Guidance, Control, and Dynamics
- Journal of Propulsion and Power
- Journal of Thermophysics and Heat Transfer
- Journal of Spacecraft and Rockets

The Color Charges for each article type are as follows:

- Full paper: $1000
- Note: $500
- Comment: $300

Authors who submit color artwork for a print journal and do not pay the Color Publication Charges will have their illustrations printed in black and white.

Payment details and instructions will be provided to authors through RightsLink following acceptance of the final article.